Adis Ahmetovic, Member of the German Bundestag, on today's elections in Bosnia and Herzegovina - "Clear commitment to Europe"

"Today's election results not only indicate a clear sign, but also provide an empirical proof that the liberal forces in the country have prevailed and that the majority of citizens in Bosnia and Herzegovina wish for a European path and a civic state.

As a Social Democrat, I am particularly pleased with this result and would like to warmly congratulate Željko Komšić and Denis Bećirović on their impressive election results.

The will of the citizens must now be actively supported and the state must be protected from destructive influences. The clear victory of Komšić and Bećirović are clear indicators that the ethnic-national ideology of Dayton is outdated and a thing of the past.

Nothing should stand in the way of a European future for Bosnia and Herzegovina after these elections today. There is a clear majority throughout the country for a course of reform. As a German foreign politician, I actively support these forces!"
